DETAILED ACTION

Claims 9 and 39-41 have been withdrawn from further consideration pursuant to 37 CFR 1.142(b) as being drawn to a nonelected invention, there being no allowable generic or linking claim. Election was made without traverse in the reply filed on 9/9/08. The applicant elected species C: three elongated tubular bodies.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-6, 8,9,11-33,35,37,38 and 42-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Storz (U.S. Patent No. 4,449,532).

Storz teaches three elongate bodies (5,4,3 Fig. 1) with passageways (from proximal to distal end) and mating members (11 col. 2, ll. 62-69 elements 2, 3 and 4 all have grooves, and these tubes engage each other), the second (4) being external of the first (3). The outward projecting members are a bounded thread track (Fig. 2) which prevents rotation. When the distal ends of the first, second and third dilators are disengaged the dilators are free to rotate (col. 3, ll. 48-50). The second dilator (4) is shorter than the first dilator (3). The first dilator being configured to receive the guidewire (2). Storz teaches a method of dilating bodily tissue, including inserting a first dilator and advancing the second over the first and engaging the first to prevent rotation (col. 3, ll. 25-35).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 7 and 36 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Storz (U.S. Patent No. 4,449,532) as applied to claims 1 and 31 above and further in view of Smith (U.S. Patent No. 4,862,891).

Storz teaches the claimed invention but does not specify the geometry of the dilators, however Smith teaches tapered frustraconical configuration (Fig. 1). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to have a frustraconical configuration as this allows for smoother access into the tissue.
